Who needs libraries?

Everyone in Gardiner.

Gardiner Library is more than a place to borrow books. It's a resource for the whole community, offering programs, technology, resources, and spaces for people of all ages to learn, connect, and participate.

You can borrow books, movies, and other materials; use computers and Wi-Fi; print/scan documents; attend programs and events; and find a welcoming place to read, work, learn, or meet your neighbors.

The Library also offers resources you may not expect, including the Library of Things, digital resources, museum passes, and New York State Park passes to name a few, giving residents access to materials, experiences, and opportunities they might otherwise have to pay for individually.

The library is a shared community resource, available to everyone in Gardiner, regardless of age, income, or how often you use it.

Gardiner Library: Big enough to serve you. Small enough to know you.
